

ERASMEDIAH

Educational Reinforcement Against the Social MEDIA Hyperconnectivity

We are happy to introduce our ERASMEDIAH project, funded by the Erasmus Plus Program, that aims at addressing, in the next two years, the Youth Sector through collective research work and the design and testing of a comprehensive, highly interactive Training Course for Educational Reinforcement against Young People's Social Media Hyperconnectivity.

The course will be used by professionals working with youth (youth workers, facilitators, educators).

The Training Course will be created thanks to the cooperative work of various professionals and different individuals involved in the education of young people aged 11-18 (sociologists, psychologists, teachers, professors, parents, youth workers);

it will become a powerful instrument for youth workers and educators to deal with the issues related to social media hyperconnectivity.
